

GameShark Codes

A Gameshark is a cheating device cartridge which you can purchase from sites such as ebay (as they are old now and probably only available second hand) which allow you to enter in various codes for a range of different enhancements or cheats in your game. For example, for Pokemon players, there are codes which will allow you to get loads of masterballs, or walk through walls.

We have here on SuperCheats a ton of codes for the GameShark cheating device, if you have never used them before, you may want to check out these instructions on how to use them: How to use GameShark codes

For people that choose to play their games on emulators, these codes can usually generally be entered into your emulation device using the cheats tab while you are playing your game.
